Theme

Walking Loire Valley is a fine walking trip along UNESCO’s world heritage ‘central Loire Valley’. It poses a moderate level of challenge as a result of distances traversed rather than any appreciable ascents or descents. There are two tour formats so take your choice based on your preference and the time available to you: a 10 or a 7-night version, where you will average 10 miles/16 kms walking per day. Whichever you opt for, you will enjoy a variety of trail, including riverside promenade and ledge, wood and forest, open countryside and, of course, vineyard walks through The Loire’s finest wine-growing areas.

Walking Loire Valley starts in Blois [ten-nighter] or Amboise [seven-nighter], both blessed with their own Chateau Royale and, more latterly, a Gare SNCF to facilitate your arrival. Sandwiched between these two railroad ‘book-ends’ is the book itself: the one you write. You walk for the best part of each day and then enjoy a series of cultural highs that most of Le Midi can only envy: numerous Renaissance and Medieval chateaux in an impeccable state of repair; troglodyte buildings and dwellings incorporated into the local architecture in the shape of hotels and guest house rooms, garages and even restaurants and snack bars; magnificent ornamental gardens that leave even the most horticulturally-challenged green-fingered; Europe’s largest monastic complex and final resting place of The Plantagenets; and, last but not least, an array of light, viticultural delicacies that embarrass Parker’s over-emphasis on high-alcohol taste bombs - enjoy a well-earned drink with your evening meal AND get up early and walk to the next watering hole that is sure to boast equally fine-but-light wines.

Complementing this fine array of cultural heritage is an excellent range of mainly 3-star hotels, supplemented by one 2-star inn and one fine chambres d’hotes du charme.

Walking Loire Valley promotes your own perfect balance between enjoying a good day’s walking and participation in the multifarious cultural opportunities that exist along this section of France’s longest river - all of which are documented in your comprehensive tour dossier. Tailor your walking holiday to your own unique interests in the knowledge that your hotels provide you with the early breakfast you need in order to maximise your opportunities for the day ahead.

Walking Loire Valley: tour itinerary

[All distances and times are approximate] ¹

Day 1 Arrive in Blois by train.

Early arrival recommended so as to maximize time in the Chateau Royal and enjoy a walk around the adjacent gardens - followed by a saunter around town and your first look at The Loire river.

Night in Blois.

Day 2 Blois to Chaumont-sur-Loire. [10½ miles-17 kms, 4½ hrs].

You are collected from your hotel and transferred a short distance out of town for your first hike along The GR3 as it wends its way along the left bank of the Loire to Chaumont via the Beuvron tributary - not to mention your first experience of Loire Valley wood-walking.

Night in Chaumont.

Day 3 Chaumont to Amboise. [10½ miles-17 kms, 4½ hrs].

After-breakfast transfer out of town to the west of the chateau, walk in and out of woods and reach the giddy heights of 112 ms. Then we enter the department of Indre-et-Loire before descending to l'Amasse, a small Loire tributary at Souvigny. Then it's a mix of copse, wood and lost hamlets before arrival in Amboise. Time to visit the Chateau Royal, the Chapelle St Hubert and last home of Leonardo da Vinci.

Night in Amboise.

Day 4 Amboise to Vouvray. [12½ miles-20 kms, 6 hrs]

No chateaux on today's agenda, so you enjoy a full day's walking and discover the terroir of the chenin blanc grape [aka le Pineau de la Loire], cross the Loire River via a footpath alongside railway lines, and hopefully enter Vouvray in time to either visit a wine museum or enjoy a 30-minute tour of the local wine co-operative in English - subject to your arrival and local opening times - please state your interest at time of booking, as it is relevant to which accommodation we place you in. Interested in a troglodyte room subject to availability? Let us know when booking.

Night in Vouvray.

Day 5 Vouvray to Villandry. [12 miles-19½ kms, approx. 4 hrs]

After-breakfast transfer takes you to Tours, capital of Touraine, where you can visit the Cathedral and the Musée des Beaux Artes. Then grab your packed lunch, jump onto the cross-city tramway, and reconnect with the trail at the southern edge of the City. You walk beside the Petit Cher and the Cher on route to Savonnières, where the traditional flat-bottomed river boats abound. Climb the 100 steps to a fine passageway to the ancient village of Villandry, with its magnificent castle and ornate 16th century gardens. Enjoy it now or tomorrow morning.

Night in Villandry.

A troglodyte cafe

Day 6 Villandry to Azay-le-Rideau.

[8½ miles-13½ kms, approx. 3½ hrs walking].

Get to the nearby gates of Villandry castle and its ornate 16th century gardens by 9am and you'll have it to yourselves. Then it's a relatively easy-going half day's walk through the Vallee du Vau on route to the quaint village of Azay with its Renaissance chateau lapped by the waters of the river Inde. The village is very picturesque, too.

Night in Azay-le-Rideau.

Day 7 Azay to Chinon.

[7½ miles-12 kms, approx. 3 hrs walking]

Morning transfer to Saint-Benoit-la-Forêt and enter the Forest of Chinon with its emblematic 'allées'. The ledge walk from the outskirts of Chinon is worth savouring, which drops you conveniently at the front gates of Chinon's magnificent medieval castle overlooking La Vienne river. This bijou village is blessed with so much to appreciate, including some fine red wine.

Night in Chinon

Day 8 Chinon to Fontevraud-l'Abbaye

[8 miles/12½ kms, approx. 4½ hrs]

Hug the river Vienne for the first half of the trail to La Chaussée. Then kick out across the Vallee des Veaux and through the Fontevraud forest. Enter Maine-et-Loire, pass the Chapelle de Notre Dame de Pitié before arriving in sacré Fontevraud, resting place of two Plantagenet kings and queens of England, including Richard The Lionheart. Both Abbey and hotel are a treat.

Night in Fontevraud

Local wine estate

Day 9 Fontevraud-l'Abbaye to Montsoreau [5 miles-8 kms, 2½ hrs]

A light day starts with a walk through the Fontevraud forest and across fields to Candes-Saint-Martin. A splendid ruin of a mill awaits at a fine belvedere over the confluence of the Loire and Vienne rivers. Then walk a balcony trail to your hotel and the Chateau de Montsoreau.

Night in Montsoreau

Day 10 Montsoreau to Saumur [11 miles-18 kms, 5 hrs]

Continue along the balcony route to Turquant and a troglodyte wine estate before striding out across AOC Saumur-Champigny country. Plenty of fine belvederes await along the balcony route to Saumur, with its 'chateau d'amour' perched on a tuffeau slope.

Night in Saumur - please ask us about the best option for your over-night stay in Saumur, especially relevant if you have an early train.

Day 11 End of Walking Loire Valley tour.

Breakfast followed by check out and onward journey by train. Bonne continuation and we hope to see you again next year.

Mainly three- star hotels

“Carefully-selected accommodation based on knowing our partners well.”

We have visited and/or stayed in all the accommodation along the trail in order to select and offer you the best three-star hotels that this Loire holiday can offer. We are also delighted to feature a welcoming two-star hotel (denied three-stars because it cannot house a lift) plus one of the best chambres d’hotes du charme in the Valley.

Walking Loire Valley allows you to experience the trail by day whilst focussing the evenings on you, your family or friends. You set the social agenda in the welcoming environment of your hotel bar, restaurant or room.
